affected communities, the Fund works in close collaboration with other bilateral and multilateral organizations, supporting their work through more substantially elevated funds.

The fight against AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria requires an intense mobilization of the civil society. In addition, the support and collaboration of international governments and communities are crucial for the integration of specialized knowledge from non-government organizations (NGO) in the process of building the Fund in the most efficient manner.

Action Field

The fund supports programs that treat the three diseases in a way that helps strengthen health systems and at the same time stimulate and bring together country associations that involve the government and the civil society. / Back to top

Dominican Republic, Belize, Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala, Cuba and Mexico.

During the year 2002, the secretariat of RedLa+ served as a focal point in the NGO's Delegation for the Southern Hemisphere for the Global Fund for the Fight against HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria.

In its role as the focal point, the RedLa+ is aware of the importance of assuring a significant participation from the community, in particular from those started and that work in Latin America and the Caribbean, whose official language is Spanish.

Likewise, it supports interventions in public health aimed at social and gender inequalities, as well safe practices that prevent the spread of these three diseases, emphasizing in health education.
